OLD WASHINGTON HAS BEEN REBUILT

Famous and Historic Town Was Almost Destroyed by Fire Thanksgiving Day.

On Thanksgiving Day last year Washington, the first capital of Texas, and a town with which many historic deeds are connected and many prominent men familiar, was practically wiped off the map by a disastrous fire. Today Washington has rebuilt every building on a grander scale and promises to live long and prosper. Absolute fireproof buildings, with only one exception, the Webmeyer building, have been rebuilt.

Messrs. Gates & Williams have a fireproof building.

P. K. Allen, a fireproof building. Gus A. Stolz, department store, was rebuilt with one-third more floor space.

Prime Hawkins is in a building of his own now, with his delicatessen store.

Mr. Joe Meredith's residence on Academy Hill was made twice its former proportions.

The postmaster, Mr. L. Kohlfarber, added another spacious room to his already large residence.

Mr. William Goessler has just put
